FRIDAY MORNING, NOV. 11, 1864.

THE PACIFIC STATES.—The returns already in suffice to show that the Pacific States are sound for the Union cause. Nevada is said to be good for 3,000 majority for Lincoln and Johnson.

This is glorious for the Pacific, and will swell handsomely the Electoral vote for those two noble representatives of the people, though they may not be needed to elect them. We hear a great deal said in the papers that support McClellan about tyranny and military dictation. Is there any claim that tyranny or military oppression aided to place the Pacific States on the Union side? No. The people in their might have said it. From the independent in their action they have only done it, but they knew what they were doing. The most intelligent and virtuous of our citizens chose that course; and while we will not deny that many intelligent and virtuous men voted the McClellan ticket, we are aware that in this city, as elsewhere, the roughs, the gamblers and the renegades who wish Davis to achieve success, were, as a class, for the so-called Democratic ticket. We believe that elsewhere, as on the Pacific coast, the most intelligent and responsible citizens of the nation have supported Mr. Lincoln. We have no idea that in any respect has the Administration attempted to coerce public sentiment or influence the popular will to vote in its support.

We do not believe the Administration, with the aid of its half million of soldiers, could coerce the sentiment of the North, if it desired to. Neither do we believe that the half million in our armies could a tithe of them, under any circumstances, be induced to attempt such coercion, even to favor their own views. Such a course, once attempted, would most effectually damn the Administration that could be base enough to conceive it, for it is in all respects contrary to the traditions of our people, and repugnant to the education and instincts of freedom. It is in defense of the Union and for the maintenance of our constitutional guarantees that our nation suffers civil war, and our armies fight, and Heaven forefend the day when it shall be otherwise.

These charges of political corruption might come with better grace from others than from those who depended on swindling, bribery, perjury and forgery to aid them in carrying the State of New York.

Does it not appear from the dispatches that the very agents appointed by the Democratic State officers of New York were the men who attempted this infamous crime? They attempted to rob the soldier in the field, not only of his ballot, but of his honor, by placing him—thanks to their worse than crime—in hostility, at the polls, to the Government he was risking his life for on the field.

Let us hear no more such taunts, but let those who tender them remember that the men who attempted this wholesale and stupendous falsification of our soldiers' faith, have to spend under sentence the remainder of their lives, without being able to expiate the offense. The party that looked to their efforts for success has most assuredly had its death-knell sounded with the Ides of November. In truth, "Honesty is the best policy."

OWYHEE STILL IMPROVING.—We are shown a private letter from Idaho City that relates some facts given by Major Holland on his return from Jordan Creek. Moore & Fogus' mill, known as the Morning Star mill, made its first eight days run from the Oro Fino quartz, taken from the tunnel on the discovery claims, in which some of the mill owners have large interests. This was only second quality of ore, used for the purpose of smoothing the mill, and the clean-up at the end of eight days run showed 600 lbs. of amalgum after it was strained. This will give probably 400 lbs. of gold and silver, and as the Oro Fino is very rich in gold, it probably will yield $5 per ounce when run into bricks and correctly assayed. Even half of that would give $1,500 for each day's run; and the ledge at the discovery being six feet wide, the world can form its own estimate of the prospects of the fortunate owners.

The next run of the mill was ten tons of choice rock from the Morning Star ledge, in the discovery claim of which Messrs. Moore & Fogus also have large interests, and the product of this was one thousand pounds of amalgum—ten per cent. of amalgum on the amount of rock crushed. The Morning Star contains less gold than the Oro Fino, but is immensely rich in silver, the rich vein being twenty-two inches wide, though the quartz is over three feet wide in some places. They expected to save some 500 pounds more of amalgum from the same rock, which at a moderate estimate would give $25,000 for perhaps two days' run. We gave yesterday particulars of what other mills are doing, and we see by the Boise Statesman that one mill will soon lay up until spring.

NEWS FROM THE EAST.—The rebel plan to burn and pillage Chicago failed to connect. Hundreds of conspirators were arrested, being found armed to the teeth.

There is not a word from the East since the 7th inst. There is a break in the line east of Salt Lake, and they are running a pony around the break with the news. Mr. Plummer, the operator, hopes for direct news soon.

In the meantime let us suggest to the [illegible] in this city who are busy circulating news that New York city is in flames, and McClellan men in arms there; that the main cities North are [illegible] and such like trash—to say nothing of their claiming certain States for McClellan by [illegible] majorities—that may be the wish is the father to the thought, and they may as well be careful that they are not suspected of being too well posted as to the intentions of the conspirators [illegible] to destroy Northern cities. The tale that Grant has [illegible] 100,000 men before Richmond is the [illegible] of all. Someone is circulating [illegible]

ELECTION NEWS.—We have [illegible] from yesterday. [illegible] returns [illegible] show that the McClellan [illegible] North Precinct in Marion county [illegible] Lincoln 121; McClellan, [illegible]. So Mr. Griswold writes to us. Good for North Precinct! A gentleman from Polk County says that in his precinct we are ahead of last Spring.

Pacific University.

[illegible] the following [illegible] dependence necessarily forced upon us. We are, by various incidents, detached in large part from the seats of learning in the older States. We cannot depend upon them except partially and indirectly for our mental and moral culture. We form, now, a [illegible] with our science and literature [illegible] of the old World. [illegible] colleges as Dartmouth, Yale, Howard, Union, &c., vieing the universities of Europe, for educational facilities, have sprung up from the infant beginnings of those pioneer times. From them has come that moral power and influence which, more than any other, has given us rank and character among nations. It is for us who call Oregon our home, who expect to spend our lives upon its soil and in its commercial marts, and lay our bodies down to rest in its quiet valleys or on its green hill-sides, to emulate examples which in the run of years, have led to such glorious results. If there is any State which, more than another, should cultivate its individuality, should erect and sustain its own institutions, independent of its sister States, that one is Oregon. Its isolation demands it; its geographical position renders it imperative; its inevitable destiny necessitates it, and its future glory depends upon it.

To a large extent, the prosperity of a people depends upon the general diffusion of knowledge, though, for the most part, this must be done through family instruction, through the common school and academy. Though there is need that these means of culture should be more vigorously exercised, more thoroughly applied, there must be institutions of learning above these, of an order so high, that they will, by their commanding position, beckon to greater excellence, the ideas of pilgrims struggling up the path of science and literature.

It is not enough that we should have efficient family instruction, thorough drill in the common school, and corresponding efficiency in the academy. There should be institutions of transcendent excellence, towering above all these.

Things should so be, that the boy on his mother's knee looks with strong desire to the common school, longs for the day when he may advance still higher into the academy and with eagerness push his preparatory conquest into the college, the university. Each of the departments should reflect an influence upon the preceding. The ambition to enter the academy should stimulate the student in the common school for thorough and adequate preparation therefor, and the academic course in turn be stimulated by the thoroughness and completeness, by the prospect of entrance upon a grander scene of culture and enlightenment.

Of course the college or university should comprehend enough in its organization that the arts, as well as the elements of all the sciences be completely unfolded. There should be combination of talent, apparatus, labor and apparatus. Until such institutions are fostered we must depend upon others for our most thorough culture.

We have the germs of such institutions among us, and it is for us who are reaping the material wealth of the country to give (do not give but invest liberally) in those enterprises which most of all reflect a rich and unfading lustre on our more material possessions.

LETTER FROM VANCOUVER.—The article referred to in the following letter was merely a clipping from some California paper. We cheerfully give place to the gentleman's statement:

VANCOUVER, Nov. 10, 1864.

EDITOR OREGONIAN:

The OREGONIAN of this morning speaking of Canadian affairs says:

"The most serious opposition to a Canadian Confederacy comes from Canada East, &c. The French are solicitous to retain their power and they will not assent to any Confederation in which extreme State Rights are not conceded to them."

To see that your information is not reliable, it is sufficient to know that the first steps towards a Confederation of all the British Provinces came from the Ministry of Canada East, viz: Hon. Tache, Premier, Hon. Carter, whose names you see are French; and the other members of the Administration. Until now but a very small minority of the people seems to be opposed to a Confederation. The leaders of the project are disposed, no doubt, to concede to the other States, which may form their Confederation, the rights they claim for their own.

Such is the proper view of the case, which you may communicate to your readers when you please, without any mention of my name.

Yours truly, &c.,

J. M. A. BLANCHET.

GEN. PHIL. SHERIDAN.—Some time ago, before General Sheridan took command on the Shenandoah, B. F. Taylor drew the following pen and ink sketch of him in the Chicago Journal:

There is no waste timber about Sheridan—not much of him, physically, but snugly put together. A square face, a warm, black eye, a pleasant smile, a reach of under jaw, showing that "when he will, he will, you may depend on't;" black hair trimmed round like a garden border—no Hyperion curl about him, any more than there was about Cromwell's troopers; and altogether impressing you with the truth that there is just about as much energy packed away in the smallest space that you ever saw in your life. Men ranging down from medium size to little, with exceptions enough to prove the rule, seem to carry the day among the heroes. Moses was something of a General, but not Falstaff; Alexander the Great and Peter the Great were little; Cromwell was no giant, and as for Napoleon—why, what was he but "the Little Corporal?" Sheridan is a capital executive officer; perhaps he would be hardly equal to planning a great campaign; but, John! wouldn't he drive it? With a good piece of his head behind his ears, and hardly reverence enough for a Mandarin, he is not afraid of the fire of clay. As chief of cavalry, he is indeed chief among ten thousand. Pleasant, cool, mild mannered, not given to long yarns, you would hardly suspect he is a thunderbolt in a charge and an emphatic human syllable all over.

FIRE IN NEVADA (N. T.)—The Enterprise of November 1st has the following:

Yesterday morning, about seven o'clock, a fire broke on South C street, near the Divide, and before it was got under by the firemen five buildings were totally destroyed. The fire broke out in the Golden Eagle Hotel, owned by Mrs. Garrick and leased to O'Neil. From this building, which stood on the east side of C street, nearly opposite to the Junction House, the fire quickly spread to the frame buildings adjoining, and in a short time the whole block was consumed. The loss by the burning for the Golden Eagle Hotel is estimated at about $5,000. The other buildings destroyed are the Eureka Saloon, the property of a Frenchman named Peters, loss, $1,500; the blacksmith shop and stock of E. W. Burns, loss, $1,000; the Mount Davidson House, owned by Shultz—loss, $2,000; and a Chinese wash house, worth about $1,000. At one time it appeared utterly impossible to prevent the fire from destroying the Junction House and other large buildings on the opposite side of the street.

BOILS.

WE READ THAT ONE OF the sorest afflictions that the patient Job was called upon to bear was that of boils, and they have been found to be, from that time to the present, the most troublesome and painful of visitors. We have known instances where individuals were sure to have these eruptions break out upon them once a month at least. They show an impure state of the blood, and that humor of some kind is lurking there, and the overplus of corruption is actually forced to the surface of the body, making its appearance in the form of Boils. Now, is it not best at once to purify the system? Do you ask what will do this? We answer, Scovill's Blood and Liver Syrup. It is curing humors in every form, and there is not a State in the Union where it has not accomplished the most astonishing cures. REDINGTON & CO., Agents, 416 and 418 Front Street, San Francisco.

LOCAL.—Local items, generally so prominent in his branch, and in catering to the public appetite, by dishing up the whims, humors and sayings of our burgh and its vicinity, is under the weather. We miss him, probably more than anybody else can, for the simple reason that when we simply have to do without him, we have to do it, and having plenty else to do, we are at present decidedly overdone.

It is to sum it up in a word—"Local" is like it, for we feel it, decidedly "thurus" to have to do without him.

We never appreciate "Local" blessings until we lose them. Nobody ever does, or is ever expected to. Over with. Our sympathy with "Local" is aching and sincere, for really his absence is most sensibly, but he is reckoned to be heard from ere long. [illegible] we must, so here goes.

[illegible] AND NOVEMBER.—Since November has put a dampener. We are reminded though [illegible] that dear old, departed October was [illegible] of uncommon virtues.

[illegible] shine was unexceptionable, and the clear sky we appropriated so [illegible] and would be pleased to catch sight of once in a while. [illegible] thing of beauty that is found no where more [illegible] than during our month of October, and [illegible] fails to favor our vision even here. [illegible] summer furnishes the harvests, but October [illegible] thresher at its work, and hears the plump [illegible] falling into the waiting bin. And with her [illegible] frosts our orchard is ripen, and the lapped [illegible] basket-full are stored away for winter use, [illegible] the cider mill grinds out the juices that are [illegible] to solace the winter hour, and to liven the [illegible] fireside chat.

Then the gardens yield the yellow pumpkin or squash, the cabbage-heads are carefully laid [illegible] the cellar and the potatoes and other roots and [illegible] are housed within the cellar [illegible] against the [illegible] frosts.

The maple leaves the while are becoming rich in red or brown, the hazel looks somewhat [illegible] and the brave old oak ruffles itself up as if [illegible] that another period of rain and blast [illegible] with its burly majesty.

October was a treasure, but it is gone: November [illegible] with its mists and rains, and we feel with [illegible]:

"The melancholy days have come, the saddest of the year."

[illegible].—How it progresses you may imagine when looking at the laborious "Siwash" with his saw and buck to accommodate the [illegible] firewood about our town to the size of stove [illegible], and then reflect that these useful [illegible] were not long since the aristocrats of the [illegible]—the sons of the aboriginals, who [illegible] the wildwood, or paddled their canoes on the beautiful Willamette or broad rolling Columbia. [illegible] happier than some who now live up and [illegible] the Columbia, for Swan Island had never [illegible] them, and the growth of Portland never [illegible] them jealous. Lo "the poor Indian" is working for his muck-a-muck, or for a comfortable outfit of clothes. Well! let him work, good enough [illegible], he has been a loafer for all past time, and [illegible] has dug his camas and caught his [illegible] long enough. Pity he could not take a [illegible] and help uncle Abraham.

[illegible] WATER WHEELS.—Stopping the other [illegible] a moment at the foundry of Messrs. E. L. [illegible] & Co. we saw some monstrous iron works [illegible] our curiosity somewhat, and we learned they were part and parcel of two large Turbine water wheels, making for the new flouring [illegible] building at Salem by the Willamette [illegible] Manufacturing Company. These wheels [illegible] feet over, and each can with sufficient fall [illegible] up to 40 horse power. In addition to these [illegible] wheels, there are to be two of smaller dimensions and less power. The mill when completed will be one of the best on this coast, and in [illegible] respects the best in this State. [illegible] congratulate our Salem friends on having in [illegible], at last, a good flouring mill. They [illegible] long needed one in that vicinity.

[illegible] UPPER WILLAMETTE.—The steamer Relief [illegible] down from Corvallis Wednesday last, but did [illegible] reach Canemah in time to connect with the [illegible]. Some of her passengers came down, in the [illegible] same evening, and others waited until [illegible] day and came down in the Rival. [illegible] boats are now running on the river above [illegible], but not with regularity as there is no certainty the river will remain navigable for any [illegible] of time. The heavy rains have not extended up the valley. [illegible] Corvallis there has been but little raise, not [illegible] having fallen; however, it is coming the [illegible] of the year when the river must soon swell [illegible] sensibly.

[illegible] COUNCIL.—The following members answered [illegible] call by the Clerk:

[illegible] Cook, Frazar, Gradon, Hurgren, Hoff[illegible] McCraken, Starr; Mayor Failing in the [illegible].

[illegible] in relation to a sewer on Mill street, [illegible] referred to committee on Streets and Public [illegible] Property.

[illegible] returning assessment roll to City Assessor and instructing him to assess all property in [illegible] limits.

[illegible] requiring City Clerk to make a delinquent tax list.

[illegible] by Mr. Starr authorizing the City [illegible] to mark the bounds of the city.

THEATRICAL.—Last evening Ion was performed [illegible] house. The occasion was the benefit of [illegible], and the large attendance was certainly [illegible] compliment to that lady's performance. [illegible] scene of the play is laid in the city of Argos. [illegible] of Ion, a youth who is a principal character [illegible] the piece, is performed admirably by Miss [illegible] and was received with great applause. Last [illegible] Miss Ince had to divide the honors with [illegible] B. Waldron, who as Adrastus, king of Argos [illegible] the most prominent character in the play [illegible] drew the spontaneous applause of the [illegible].

[illegible] very glad to see an attendance last evening [illegible] commensurate with the effort Mr. Potter [illegible] making to amuse and interest our citizens, and [illegible] this is only the beginning of a well merited [illegible] patronage.

[illegible] IN THE MUD.—A loaded dray was stuck [illegible] in the mud on First Street, don't know whether [illegible] fault lay in the load, the mud or a refractory [illegible]. There was mud in vast quantities, how[illegible], and unless the streets or the mud improve [illegible] the loaded drays will have to pull to get [illegible]. A truck formed a striking illustration of the [illegible] to be feared from disunion, yesterday afternoon. The fore wheels and a pair of horses were [illegible] traveling past in one direction, while the hind [illegible] loaded, remained stationary. Father Abraham will have to follow the example of the teamster, [illegible] the erratic cavaliers hitch them to the ma[illegible] again, and then set all hands to pull it out of [illegible] mud.

THE DIRECTORY.—Messrs. McCormick and Bash [illegible] are about commencing the canvass of our city [illegible] prepare the city directory for 1865. [illegible] During the past year the population and business [illegible] of Portland have increased so much that all are interested to see something brought before the public [illegible] afford them an opportunity of judging [illegible] improvement has been, and we have no doubt the [illegible] enterprising proprietors will do the thing up in the [illegible] shape. Let all aid them in securing the information they may require. All business men know [illegible] a directory affords an excellent medium of advertising, and they say they have still room for a [illegible] more.

A BUNDLE OF OATS.—It was a [illegible] we understand, that escaped conviction before the Recorder, though caught in the commission of [illegible] larceny, to wit: stealing a bundle of oats [illegible] a countryman's load. As soon as the [illegible] saw [illegible] perpetrated he commenced an active pursuit, but madam cow was off on the instant, and [illegible] her legs so well that she accomplished a brilliant retreat through the deepest mud, which rendered unavailing the energetic flank movement of [illegible] man. The boys had a good time and loud [illegible] the performance.

[illegible] HOWS THE RIVER? [illegible]

[illegible] SIX [illegible]

[illegible] ABSENT WITHOUT [illegible].—The following extract from Jeff. Davis' speech delivered at Macon, Ga., September 23d, [illegible] to the pointing to the heart and soul [illegible] Southern soldiers fight for the Confederacy than any comment we can make:

"It is not proper for me to speak of the number of men in the field; but this I will say, that two-thirds of our men are absent, some sick, some wounded, but most of them absent without leave."—[illegible]

By the open and public admission of Jeff. Davis, nearly two thirds of the Confederate armies are deserters, and many of these are in the Union ranks to-day, while many more are on Union soil, and very glad to remain there.

A CHINAMAN has recently been accepted as a substitute for a [illegible] of Portland, Maine, who had drawn a lucky number in the military raffle.

A word to the Aged.

In the decline of life the loss of vital force consequent upon physical decay can only be safely supplied by some [illegible] which recruits the strength and spirits, without entailing the exhaustion which is always the [illegible] of ordinary stimulants. We tender to the aged [illegible].

As an invigorant and restorative, immediate in its beneficial action and permanent in its effects. It tones the stomach, improves the appetite, and acts like a charm upon the spirits.

Killed by a Grizzly.—Mr. B. H. Baird, of Jackson county, was killed by a grizzly bear while out deer hunting on [illegible] Creek. The particulars are [illegible]:

On the morning of the 2[illegible] Mr. Baird started in pursuit of [illegible], his faithful dog, Rover, with him. [illegible] one mile and a half, when [illegible] grizzly bears in their bed. Mr. B[illegible] yards of them, and shot the [illegible] ing it. The bear [illegible] two hundred yards, when [illegible] knocked his gun about [illegible] ing loose from the [illegible] tree, the bear passing [illegible] went a short distance [illegible] ped to fight the dog. Mr. B. [illegible] it, and shot the bear [illegible] now came at him more [illegible] knocked his gun out of his hand [illegible] Mr. B. swung around [illegible] bear's reach, drew one of his [illegible] stabbed the bear in the belly. The bear [illegible] several severe blows, knocking his knife [illegible] hand. Mr. B. then drew his [illegible] knife, and the bear seized his hand [illegible] causing him to drop it. The bear [illegible] ter of Mr. B. getting him [illegible] face, cutting several severe gashes on the [illegible] tearing out his right eye and also [illegible] right side of his face. [illegible] in his right side; in fact [illegible] body down to his boots. The bear [illegible] fight the dog, that had [illegible] Mr. B. [illegible] been killed on the spot. The [illegible] and the dog [illegible] rolled down the hill some distance, still fighting, when Mr. B. gathered up his gun, [illegible] the rope with which he had been leading his dog and started for Mr. McMichel's cabin, distant about one mile and a half, where he arrived, much exhausted, about 10 o'clock A. M., and was assisted into the house, when he related the melancholy event to Mr. McDonough. Being conscious that he could not long survive, he spoke of his family, and his desire to see them before he died. He was reconciled to meet his death, and spoke of a hope of future happiness. He died about 9 o'clock [illegible] of the same day. Mrs. Baird was sent for and hastened with all possible speed—the distance of 18 miles, over a very rough hilly road—but arrived about five minutes too late to see her husband alive. He was brought home and buried near his farm, some [illegible] miles north of Rogue River, near the stage road. He leaves a wife and sixteen children, eight of which are but young and live at home.

Trespass in Legal Phrase.—"Bless me, Mr. Pounce, what is this?" [He reads.] "For that the said John Snooks, on the 10th day of May, with force and arms, broke and entered a certain house of the plaintiff's and made a great noise and disturbance therein, and so continued to make a disturbance for the space of twenty-four hours."

"That, Sir, is the declaration in trespass."

"But the man only knocked; he didn't make any disturbance at the door for twenty-four hours."

"A more formal allegation, Sir, not necessary to be proved."

"But he didn't break in divers, to wit: twenty doors."

"Pooh, Sir, don't you see that it is laid under a videlicit?"

"Laid under a what?"

"A videlicit; that means you mustn't prove the allegation if it is immaterial; but if material you must."

"But what is the use of it then?"

"The use of it, my dear Sir! But you don't understand these things—they are vocabularies."

"And what may that be?"

"Why words that raise doubts, swell cost, and enable the professional man to make the most of a very small case."

From Idaho.—A party of five arrived here last evening direct from Jordan Creek. They left there on the 9th of the present month, in company with fifteen others, all on horseback. Just beyond Pleasant Valley, they found the bodies of two men recently murdered. One of the bodies was found by a party one day in advance of these, and buried; the other they did not discover. Both had been shot with rifles, and were in stocking feet, showing that they were asleep when attacked. It was evident that one was killed where he lay, and the other though shot directly through the body, had run for three-quarters of a mile, and died close to the road. His double-barrelled gun was with him, and had both barrels discharged. The horses were still there and nothing seems to have been taken but hats and blankets. Some six hundred dollars in coin and a few ounces in gold dust were found on the bodies. One saddle had been carried a short distance and left. There were moccasin tracks visible, and from all appearances, the party were satisfied it was the work of Indians, and that they fled at once, and had not returned. There was another camp some five miles in the direction of the wounded man, and this may have alarmed them. None of the party were able to identify the bodies, and no papers were found upon them.—Carson Post, October 20th.

A Scene Behind a Scene.—The Idaho Statesman has the following:

Theatres are said to be places of amusement, and to a spectator it would seem that everything behind the curtain should be as gay and lively as the great play performed for the admiration of the audience. But such seems not to have been the case night before last at the Jenny Lind Theatre, in Idaho City. Two rival lovers, a six shooter and a woman were behind the curtain, and while Mazeppa was riding the wild steed of Tartary, the careless six shooter went off. The ball passing close over the shoulder of a poor Jew, striking the other lover by the side of the eye, making a fearful wound. The woman exclaims, "Poor Valentine, oh, my God, he's shot!" Exit lover.

The Earthquake.—The severe shock which was felt here on Saturday morning last, was experienced also at the same moment in New Westminster. The North Pacific Times says: "A very distinct shock of an earthquake was felt in most parts of this city on Saturday morning last. The time of its event corresponds exactly with that of the heaviest shock felt in Victoria, proving the existence of an uncomfortable species of subterranean telegraph between the two colonies. The shock appears to have terminated here, no motion having been felt in the higher river towns."—British Colonist.

Hardest.—A few evenings ago, at Silver City, an overgrown Englishman, while traducing the old flag and using unbecoming language about Americans, run against the prow of a medium-sized monitor and smashed his face. Somehow or other that Silver City seems to be an unhealthy place for treason mills to shoot their jaws off.—Owyhee Avalanche.

A Long Train.—One of the Mormon trains of emigrants that crossed the plains this year, was reported to have been ten miles in length, forming quite a respectable army, and a very fine body of recruits for the peaceful and prosperous settlements of Utah. These were chiefly from the Old World.—Reese River Reveille.

Read This, Democrats!—The Charleston Mercury of Sept. 5th says that "if we hold our own and prevent further military success on the part of our foes, there is every prospect that McClellan will be elected, and his election upon the Chicago platform must lead to peace and our independence."

To the County Officers:

Other States have filled with commendable [illegible] every call that has been made upon them. The [illegible] have a very natural repugnance to a draft, under [illegible] every drafted man must serve or furnish a substitute. Under it there must inevitably be some cases of severe and unnecessary hardship. Opportunity is now given [illegible] such a draft. The men are needed promptly, and [illegible] consideration of [illegible] of State, [illegible] requires that [illegible] promptly [illegible] the [illegible] volunteers. The officers of the State feeling the most earnest desire that the State should avoid a draft, appeal to the patriotic citizens of your county, through you who are their officers and legal and natural representatives. As guardians of their rights and of their honor, it is incumbent upon you to respond to this appeal by earnest and successful work. Call to your aid the assistance of the active and influential citizens of the county. Let every loyal citizen of the county understand, and, if possible, induce him to realize that he has an immediate and personal interest in the success of your efforts. If necessary, call meetings in your school districts and bring the matter home to every inhabitant. Funds will be needed to pay expenses, not provided for by law. Let subscriptions be circulated in each county for that purpose and preserve a record of the names of the donors among the archives of the county. In short, the Governor, upon whom the requisition is made, expects, and justly, that you will respond to this call upon you with an earnestness of purpose which shall insure success. Due notice of the districting of the State will be given as soon as it can be made.

LE DOYEN'S

Sarsaparilla, Yellow Dock

—AND—

IODINE ALTERATIVE

FOR THE CONSTITUTION.

Cleanse the Blood.

With corrupt, disordered, or vitiated Blood you must be sick all over. It may burst out in pimples or sores, or in some active disease, or it may merely keep you listless, depressed and good for nothing. But you cannot have good health while your blood is impure. Sarsaparilla purges out these impurities and stimulates the organs of life into vigorous action, restoring the health and repelling disease. Hence it rapidly cures a variety of complaints which are caused by impurities of the blood, such as Scrofula or King's Evil, Tumors, Ulcers, Sores, Eruptions, Pimples, Blotches, Boils, St. Anthony's Fire, Rose or Erysipelas, Tetter or Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Ring Worm, Cancer or Cancerous Tumors, Sore eyes, Female Diseases, such as Retention, Irregularity, Suppression, Whites, Sterility, Syphilis or Venereal Diseases, Liver Complaints and Heart Diseases.

BLOOD AND LIVER.

This valuable medicine is now available to the public for the cure of

SCROFULA, CONSUMPTION, RHEUMATISM, CANCER,
HEART, LIVER AND KIDNEY DISEASES,
NEURALGIA, NERVOUS AFFEC-
TIONS, DYSPEPSIA
BRONCHITIS, &c.

AS A TONIC,

its operations are evinced by strengthening the digestive organs and increasing the appetite. In cases of Dyspepsia, Emaciation and Debility, an increased nutrition of the body is the result of the employment of Iodine. The patient recovers flesh, strength and color, hitherto pale, relaxed and feeble, he becomes full, strong and florid.

Are you sick, feeble and complaining? Are you out of order, with your system deranged and your feelings uncomfortable? These symptoms are often the prelude to serious illness. Some fit of sickness is creeping upon you, and should be averted by a timely use of the right remedy. Take Le Doyen's Sarsaparilla, and cleanse out the disordered system, purify the blood, and let the fluids move on unobstructed in health again.

AS A LITHONTRIPTIC,

it has no equal; being chemically combined with Iodine, it possesses in a high degree the power of dissolving Stone in the Bladder, and ureters of the kidney, preventing gravel formations and enlargements of the prostrate gland, irritation of the neck of the bladder, dropsy, etc.

The Plantation Bitters make the weak strong, the languid brilliant, and are exhausted nature's great restorer. They are composed of the celebrated Calisaya Bark, Wintergreen, Sassafras, Roots, Herbs, &c., all preserved in perfectly pure St. Croix Rum.

S. T.—1860.—X.

Persons of sedentary habits troubled with weakness, lassitude, palpitation of the heart, lack of appetite, distress after eating, torpid liver, constipation, &c., deserve to suffer if they will not try them.

They are recommended by the highest medical authorities, and are warranted to produce an immediate beneficial effect. They are exceedingly agreeable, perfectly pure and harmless.

Notice.—Any person pretending to sell Plantation Bitters in bulk or by the gallon is a swindler and impostor. It is put up only in our patent log cabin bottle. IODINE WATER.

Iodine water is the most important discovery of modern chemistry, and it is impossible to overestimate its influence as a remedial agent. Iodine has been considered the most useful article in Materia Medica, and many of the most scientific and practical chemists and physicians have investigated its effects upon the human system. It is to act upon the

HEART,
LIVER, KIDNEYS,
DIGESTIVE ORGANS AND GLANDULAR SYSTEM;

and to have great control over

SCROFULOUS AFFECTIONS.

Notwithstanding the zeal and ability which have been devoted to its investigation, it remained almost useless, until Dr. Henry Anders, a physician and chemist of New York, after years of patient labor and experiment, discovered a chemical process which enabled him to dissolve

PURE IODINE IN PURE WATER.

Without a solvent. This, considered impossible by the scientific world, is attested by certificates of analysis from Dr. J. R. Chilton of this city, and Prof. Booth, U. S. Mint, Philadelphia. The importance of this discovery was so highly appreciated by the faculty that it was published in the Medical Journals, and at once recommended to practitioners (see "American Medical Monthly," July 16, 1856, page 76).

This valuable medicine is now available to the public for the cure of Scrofula in all its manifold forms, Consumption, Cancer, Heart, Liver and Kidney Diseases, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Nervous Affections, Dyspepsia, Bronchitis, etc.
